

Resurrection From the Rubble!

Presented by the Haitian Timoun Foundation and
The Resurrection Dance Theatre of Haiti

The Resurrection Dance Theatre of Haiti is an internationally recognized dance troupe of former orphaned street children and child slaves in Haiti. The troupe uses drumming and dance to vibrantly tell their story and lift up hearts. It is a liberating message that with God all things are possible. On January 31st, the Saint Joseph's Family, home to this troupe, was ready to celebrate twenty-five years of life-changing mission to street and vulnerable children in Haiti. Formed from very humble beginnings with the leadership of Michael Geilenfeld, the family grew to three centers in Haiti. The power of the family's mission is that Haitian boys, transformed from being the rejected ones in Haiti to being among the very best of servant-leaders, give back by reaching out and multiply themselves in others. Their work has changed the lives of countless Haitian children, boys and girls and even those with disabilities, to be the best they can be. Recently, with HTF's support, the family built and opened a school for the very poorest of the poor, giving children with no hope a chance to realize their dreams. Together we had a vision of a dental and medical clinic in the town of Jacmel, a community outreach center, a coffee project and a mechanics' school to give the family a needful enterprise, and a water project that would provide clean water to the community.

On January 12th, Haiti was devastated by an earthquake, and the Saint Joseph's Family was hit very hard. Buildings crashed. People were hurt. Not only did they lose their home, these young dancers also lost most of their costumes and drums. What they did not lose was their determination to make a difference. They have sewn new costumes, repaired damaged drums and are now ready to dance the good news of resurrection once again.

We present this event as a testimony to the Saint Joseph's Family and as a plea to help us raise up the Saint Joseph's Family from the rubble. Come join us in this dance of new life. Offer them your encouragement, your helping hands and your financial resources. By our raising up Saint Joseph's to be better than before we will also be raising up Haiti.
