Teacher Notes:

1. Can you believe there are only 7 more days of school! This year had flown by so fast. It seems that that the older I get, the faster the years go by. These children have definitely kept me on my toes with their energy and activity but they are one of the most loving groups of students I have ever had the privilege to teach!
2. I will be offering group tutoring sessions during the summer for those who need a little extra practice before beginning first grade. A note went home yesterday with the details. If you did not receive one and you are interested, please let me know.
