RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

We finished up the Wise King unit in November and have started the Celebrate the Birth of Jesus unit. Our November movie night was good. We have a small group, but those who participated had a lot of fun; good feedback from the kids and parents.

We have officially moved Pathways inside, and our numbers are larger than when we were outside. We are averaging 12 kids. If the numbers are consistent then after the January unit I will most likely add another class to the rotation, making 3 groups instead of 2.

We are currently offering zoom and in-person pathways. We have not had any zoom participation, if this continues, we will discontinue offering zoom, because it does create many challenges with programming.

Practices for "A Christmas Melody" went well. We have our performance on December 12 at 9 and 11:15 services. Advent Party is during discipleship hour and open to everyone.

Cookie decorating/exchange led by Jennifer Reed is happening December 18. Available to the whole church, but geared toward engaging kids.

I have a few ornaments trickling back to me! Some amazing volunteers are sewing them up. The book this year is The Christmas

Promise. It has been recorded, so it is available anytime, and then I will be reading it live on Zoom the 24th at 2pm. I have come across ornaments from previous years and those will be displayed and available to take home also.

January will be a different classroom model. We are using a book, What Would Jesus Do?. We will split it up into 5 sections and do an activity related to the chapters covered each week. The goal is to incorporate The Room at the Inn program into what we are learning. Matthew 25:35-40 is the overall theme. We will make WWJD bracelets, cook for the folks staying with us, learn about the science of fire, make soap, and make watercolor posters.

JYF will re-debut January 23rd following church services. I am looking into a couple devotionals to use each time we meet through the whole year. Then focus on a service project that may or may not relate to our devotional, but hopefully will relate! JYF will be open to 4,5, and 6th graders. January 22nd is the 3rd grade bible workshop with the bibles being presented at church on the 23rd.

We relocated the baby wall to the entrance, on the new member wall, where people can see it!

- Our 12 CareLink ministry chairs continue to manage their teams of volunteers. And we occasionally get new volunteers. During this Advent season we are doing our best to meet any needs reported to us.
- As you know, we get notices of church family who need special attention from the ministers, Ingrid, our own church members and our CareLink ministry chairs. If you know of anyone who might need such attention, please notify Ingrid and she will pass it on to Patsy. Patsy then sends alerts to our 12 teams and we go into action.
- At this point we are still keeping up with all of the requests and alerts.
- CareLink Report--Future
- As with any ministry dependent on volunteers, we sometimes have people who must take a break. So we are always encouraging others to pick up those responsibilities. Also, as our CareLink Ministries grow, we need additional volunteers.
- Please encourage people to help by calling Patsy Dalton, 356-6036 or Ingrid at the church if they feel they could help with CareLink. There is great flexibility in being a CareLink volunteer.
