

Day 7 - Contagious Love Devotional

Monday, March 23rd, 2020

Job 12:7 - But now ask the animals, and let them teach you; and the birds of the heavens, and let them tell you.

Sunday was a good day to reflect and write a devotional. Joyce and I watched the virtual service. Inspirational music, song, prayer, and message. Calming to our souls after a week of unsettling news.

Terry mentioned her and Jeff's dog Jake. The friendly gesture of the dog treats and the suggestion to feed the birds. Terry's idea has been my go-to balm for a frazzled psyche.

With bird feeders filled, deer feed out, something for the squirrels, too, and dogs (puppy Dodge and senior dog Maddie) in lap; we allow the calming effect of nature and comradery of the recliner to have their effect.

I second Terry's proposal. Let God's creatures teach us and tell us how to calm our troubled psyche's. Bird seed is cheap therapy!

~~ Don Harter