

Sunday Mornings – Four Adult Bible Studies Offered

Table Talk

Location: Fellowship Hall Kitchen

Conveners: Jane Wolter-Williamson and David Williamson

After you drop off the kids in Sunday School, come get a cup of coffee and have some conversation with us around the kitchen table. We will have a brief fellowship time followed by Bible study. This class uses a study called Joining the Feast; an informal discussion-based class created by the PC (USA) and Columbia Theological Seminary. No need to prepare before class, so come and jump in at any point -- early, late, or right on time!

The Present Word Bible Study

Location: Conference room

Convener: Joan Salazar

The Present Word Bible study is a discussion class that uses a workbook with stimulating ideas and questions. No matter what your level of Bible knowledge, you will find the thematic approach will help you to offer up your heart to the Lord. There is a short scripture passage for each day, but no homework is required! All adults are welcome.

Topics in Religious History & Beliefs

Location: Garden Room

Convener: Ken Weatherbie

Lectionary Studies

Location: Room E1

Convener: Rev. Don Liljestrand

This class discusses the lectionary readings for the day. The lectionary is a pre-selected collection of scriptural passages for the Christian Year that are used for worship and study. In our study, we try to bring the scripture to bear on the present day situations in the world, the nation, the city and personally.
