

MARCH 2017

At Emmanuel Episcopal Church, we strive to provide people the opportunity for growth in their faith through our mutual love, respect and acceptance of one another.

NEWS FROM THE NARTHEX

FROM FATHER ROBERT LENT--DAYS OF DEEPER PRAYER AND INTROSPECTION

Dear Friends,

It has been a while since News from the Narthex has been published. March is the first issue of the year. We are making a concerted effort to make News from the Narthex a document that will inform and engage. I am sure it will grow in scope as we go forward.

We just finished a wonderful celebration of rededicating the church. We had an overflow crowd into the chapel where parishioners and friends were able to participate. It was a feast for our younger members and their families as well. Baptisms, Confirmations, Reception and Reaffirmation were more than a passing moment in the Liturgy. How well the redesigned liturgical space worked. Our liturgy was as complete as could be because in the end all of our senses were brought into our prayer and we were left knowing that we had experienced beauty in a variety of ways...sound, sight, touch, taste and people—the very community gathered to celebrate God's presence and love and one another. The food afterwards was pretty good as well.

Just two days later we indulged in pancakes and then Ashes. A prayer was said at each service before ashes were imposed which read: "Grant that these ashes may be to us a sign of our mortality and penitence, that we may remember that it is only by your gracious gift that we are given everlasting life..."

For the next 40 days or so we will observe what some have called "dreary old Lent." As Protestants we're not supposed to get excited about those things. But maybe there is something to get excited about. Perhaps being reminded of where we came from and where we are going can awaken in us the reality that each of us (and all of us) are on that beautiful journey from dust to dust that we call life. We have a marvelous opportunity over the next month to step back from our day to day duties and concerns and to look broadly over the landscape of our whole lives and see where each of us has been — and where we would like to be moving and to check in to see if all is well with our hearts and souls in the present moment. Lent is actually the calmest time of the church year—a time to make a lot of good things happen.

I am grateful for the hard work of the outgoing vestry members and am enthused and hope-filled for our new members who were elected in December. Some are real newbies as we affectionately call members who have never served on a vestry and others are more experienced folks who know the ropes a little bit, though I do try to keep things surprising. The vestry as a body is working hard to enlist more folks for ministry, helping us to be the welcoming community for all people that we say we are and being willing to stretch to see new ways that the Lord is calling us to serve.

There are so many opportunities for us to seek out the work God is calling us to do. As we take time to reflect during these days of deeper prayer and introspection, take a moment or two each day to see what you might find for you.

In his love,
Robert

EMMANUEL WELCOMES THE ATHENS AREA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOR “BUSINESS AFTER HOURS”

On February 16th, Emmanuel hosted the Athens Area Chamber of Commerce’s “Business After Hours. This event is hosted by a different

Chamber member on the third Thursday of the month and is their primary networking event. The seeds for hosting this event were planted by last year’s Vestry as part of their theme of “community.” They wanted to explore new ways to reach out, welcome neighbors, and to show off our new space—and to grow membership in our vibrant, loving community.

Over 80 visitors attended came and enjoyed appetizers provided by Home.Made. Vestry members served as tour guides after Dean Mannheimer, 2017 AACC Board

Chairman, made some introductory remarks and Father Robert welcomed them to Emmanuel. “Spirit of Service” is the Chamber’s theme this year and people attending had the opportunity to bring comfort kits to be distributed by the American Red Cross to disaster victims. As part of his comments, Robert shared examples of outreach and the “spirit of service” that Emmanuel does for the community, making this event a perfect opportunity to tie together the work of Emmanuel with that of the Athens Area Chamber of Commerce.

As everyone toured our lovely campus, our visitors had an opportunity to hear Sam play the organ while they walked through the church. We had cards on the table that included information about our recent expansion, renovation, restoration, and preservation as well as some of the charitable work we have done and continue to do in the community. We understand this is the first time Business After Hours has been held at a church and it was very well received.

Several of our visitors asked about service times and mentioned wanting to visit on Sunday.

Many thanks go to Phil Bettendorf, Terrie Seward, Crysty Odom and Brooke Storz for organizing this event. We have so much to be proud of.

THRIFT HOUSE UPDATE

I want to send a GREAT BIG THANK YOU to Leah Goodwin, Thrift House store manager, to all the volunteers, and to all the generous donations from church members and the community. Our first calendar year of operating in the new store has been successful. Several church youth are creating a store blog to promote the store and add community service to their resumes.

If you haven’t done so already, please stop in, please volunteer, and please tell everyone about the best Thrift Store in Athens. With spring around the corner (if not already here!), please think of the Thrift House if you are cleaning out closets. We particularly need LPs, CDs, spring/summer clothing and housewares.

BAPTISMS, CONFIRMATIONS & REAFFIRMATIONS

And he did it all. Emmanuel kept Bishop Wright busy on Sunday, February 26, with a Forum held in the Chapel, a service where he baptized three, confirmed eighteen, welcomed one to the church, supported two Emmanuelites in reaffirming their faith, and made himself available to everyone at a lunch after the service. During the service, he blessed the ambo; he dedicated the font; and he consecrated the altar. If we could bottle his energy and sell it, efforts at fund raising would be finished.

One of the interesting points he made in his sermon was that even though many people feel that the Church should not be political, he feels strongly that it should.

Political, yes. Partisan, no. And in his five-year service as Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta, he has spoken out strongly on political matters that affect the church and its peoples, but never on a political party. Since becoming Bishop, he has addressed the Georgia legislature about gun control, spoke up for Medicaid expansion and has been a vocal and active opponent of the death penalty in Georgia. So he has earned the right to say being political is good, but being partisan is not.

Commenting on the beauty of Emmanuel's renovated church, he reminded the congregation that when Jesus went to the top of the mountain for renewal, he came down to do his work in the world. The church with its beauty might very well be "our mountain," but going out into the world is our work, and "so get to work!" he said.

The Right Rev. Robert C. Wright is the 10th Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta, which covers north and central Georgia and embraces 110 worshipping communities. We at Emmanuel, were blessed to have him with us on the last Sunday in February. With over 400 parishioners and guests, spilling over from the church into the chapel, he blessed the renewed and restored beauty of our historical and beloved mountain—Emmanuel Episcopal Church.
