

The Rev. David C. Wacaster

I am rector of Good Shepherd Church in Silver Spring, MD. I grew up in the Diocese of Mississippi and attended Sewanee for undergrad and VTS for seminary. Initially, I moved to Washington to be a member of the Cathedral Volunteer Service Community, a forerunner of the Episcopal Service Corps. After that year and before going to seminary, I spent six years as a member of the Presiding Bishop's staff in the Office of Government Relations working on social justice issues. I have served two three-year terms as a member of the Diocese of Washington's Diocesan Council. I have also served as an Alternate Deputy from Washington to two General Conventions and I will be a Deputy in Austin this summer. I have a passion for justice issues and a longtime interest in Church governance. I would be honored to serve as clerical representative to Executive Council from Province III.
