Praise for The Gospel According to Sam ...

"William Miller is a magician with language. His stories are beautifully written. They're parables, gateways into the deep mysteries of life, love, and death. They find wisdom in dogs and humor in stingrays, and great joy in the everyday wonders of life. The simplest things become beautiful and, right before your eyes, divine."
-- William Broyles Jr., Screenwriter, "Jarhead, ""Apollo 13," "The Polar Express," and "Cast Away"

"I was a reporter, editor, and columnist for The New York Times for more than 15 years, and have been an Episcopalian for more than 40--which is to say, I'm no stranger to polite, formal and reserved (dare I say stiff?) communication. But in Bill's case, I gotta say it straight: This dude rocks!"
-- Peter H. Lewis, writer, Fortune Magazine

"Bill is a superb preacher, r among the handful of first-rate preachers in the Episcopal Church. His sermons are so well crafted and beautifully presented that the congregation at times cannot help but break out in applause. Bill is a master proclaimer of the Gospel."
-- The Rev. Dr. r Frank Sugeno, Professor Emeritus, Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest
