MINISTERS CELEBRATING...

THE CALL

“Recently a young man, after hearing the testimony of a missionary who died for Christ say, ‘Nothing’s worth dying for!’ If that is true, then is anything worth living for? Understanding one’s God-ordained call give life meaning, direction, and lion-like boldness. Ultimately, the call gives us the ability to die like soldiers if the providence of God demands it. Everything rests on the call.” Chad Harvey

BIBLICAL VALUES

“Let’s go back to creating biblically functioning communities based on Acts 2.” Michael Rakes

3 Come ready to relax!

The North Carolina mountains are especially beautiful in the fall. Colors abound in magnificent hues, and cool mountain breezes revive and refresh, as you bask in the beautiful artwork of the Lord. Building new relationships and visiting with friends is a foundational strength for all ministers in our fellowship, so come and join the celebration.

Dary Northrop

Dary Northrop has served as senior pastor of Timberline Church in Fort Collins, Colorado, since November 1986. Prior to that, he served as a youth pastor for eight years in Colorado. Northrop received his Bible school training at Central Bible College in Springfield, Missouri. He has a passion to help pastors lead their churches in making changes that are healthy and that will lead them to be able to impact their cities.

“Dary Northrop, friend to North Carolina ministers, will bring a powerful and practical message from the scriptures, as well as help us understand how to construct biblically functioning communities within our own community. “... Michael Rakes

Partnering together In the Journey

“Ministers’ Retreat - Celebration ‘09 is an opportunity for both you and me to receive strength for the ministerial journey, and to obey the Bible’s mandate to connect with other brothers and sisters. Make these kinds of events a priority.” Chad Harvey
