“Members of one another”

Love must be sincere. Hate what is evil; cling to what is good.

Sincere love requires heart boundaries of cherishing God's best and hating what ravages God's best

Only with these boundaries can you sincerely love a person for their best

Members of one another

When your life is shaped by who you are in Christ as “members of one another”

The opposite of “ME” is not “YOU”

But “WE”

Marriage: Members of one another

We only regard those unions as real examples of love and real marriages in which a fixed and unalterable decision has been taken. If men or women contemplate an escape, they do not collect all their powers for the task. In none of the serious and important tasks of life do we arrange such a 'getaway.' We cannot love and be limited.
