

PARKING

AROUND PARK STREET CHURCH

Parking has always been a difficult, frustrating and often time consuming problem for our congregation. Metered parking spaces are free on Sunday. While you may notice that both sides of Park Street are often lined with parked cars, the Common side of the street is a no-parking zone. Spaces on the church side of the street are regulated by posted signs and parking meters. Please be advised that cars parked in illegal spaces will be ticketed and/or towed at the discretion of the city parking or law enforcement agencies. The most reliable and safe option for parking your car is to use one of the local parking garages.

Discounted parking is available on weekends and after 4 PM on weeknights at the Center Plaza and One Beacon Street Garages (both accessed from the same ramp on Tremont Street across from King's Chapel Cemetery) and at the Boston Common Garage (accessed from the ramp on Charles Street between the Common and Boston Public Gardens). Please note that any cars parked before 4 PM on weekdays will incur the full daytime parking rate. To receive the best possible parking rate, please see the information below before leaving the church to reclaim your vehicle.
