Missions: Global and Local

While there are several comments encouraging our involvement with special ministries, such as aiding the Katrina evacuees, there are a number who propose that our church become considerably more involved in missions based in our broader community. These include services to downtown youth, recurring commitment to Habitat for Humanity, engaging with local churches in service to Hispanics and other groups in the community, and creating a counseling outreach program.

Additionally, participants encouraged the broader use of church facilities in support of community groups and needs, finding ways to serve those who are unchurched, sponsoring our own international mission trips, and adding a K-12 Christian school.
