

What You Can Do With the myMISSION Web site

- Share articles from Health Quest, Dine on a Dime, and Money S.O.S. with friends, coworkers, and neighbors. Use the articles to segue into a witnessing opportunity.
- Discuss Take Note media reviews with other women in your church. Read one of the books reviewed; meet at a coffee shop to talk about it. Gather a group of your friends, and go see a movie reviewed, After the movie, discuss it over dessert.
- Email your friends and ask them to look at the information from missionaries in Face to Face – discuss what you're learning and what life in their shoes would be like.
- Gather articles from WorldCrafts to highlight artisans at a WorldCrafts party.
- Become a world changer with other like-minded women. Go on a MissionsFEST together. Act on some of the things you've read about in World Justice. Become involved.
- Share your missions involvement on the myMISSIONfulfilled Blog. Let others know what you've done, how to look for potential missions projects, and how to get others to join you.
- Share things you've learned from any part of the Web site with existing groups within your church.
- Use Secret Place to enhance your prayertime and work through the Holy Space Bible study during your personal time with the Lord. Share these two online resources with new believers or women in your church.
- Use World Wise to read about social justice issues and missions work on every continent. Ok, every continent except Antartica!
- Have a family missions night. Try one of the new recipes from Dine on a Dime. Tell about a missionary from Face to Face.
- Sharpen your money managing skills using tips from Money S.O.S. Earmark money saved for missions: missions offerings, trips, or projects.
- Gather some friends or church members each week to work through the Holy Space Bible study together.

Use any of the above ideas with women you know to assist them in fulfilling their life mission.
